LATEST STORIES FROM THE ESMO MEMBERS

A perfect Christmas gift for your peers

If you are looking for Christmas gifts for your young team members, look no further and get inspired by Paola Varese, Presidio Ospedaliero Ovada, Italy, who purchased two ESMO memberships for two young oncologists of her team: "In Italy it is not possible to reward our team members with money, neither when they are very brilliant and engaged in work. The only way is to encourage them towards science. ESMO is a great family and a strong referral for oncologists who love their work and want to improve their daily practice and my gift was the best for them".

Oncologists who are members of a national oncology society with whom ESMO has a reciprocal membership agreement may benefit from a reduced ESMO membership fee (currently, 43 national oncology societies in 40 countries/regions).
